

FACT SHEET

ANIMAL WELFARE OBLIGATIONS FOR PAINFUL HUSBANDRY PROCEDURES IN CATTLE

This factsheet is a summary of the Code of Welfare: Painful Husbandry Procedures published by MPI. (Link at the bottom of the page)

These are the MINIMUM STANDARDS

(The section in white at the bottom of the page is recommended best practice)

No painful procedures to be performed on animals under 12 hours old

CASTRATION

Pain relief MUST be used if animals are over six months old

Use correct size of rubber ring

- Ring above testes and below teats
- If using high tension band then pain relief must be used (any age)

DISBUDDING OR DEHORNING

Disbudding

Thermal cauterising or chemical techniques must not damage animal tissue beyond the bud

Dehorning

Method must minimise pain, distress and risk of infection

Pain relief authorised by a vet MUST be used on animals of all ages when disbudding or dehorning.

RECOMMENDED BEST PRACTICE

Always use pain relief for any age

Work Hygienically

Seek veterinary advice on best methods

GENERAL INFORMATION

Apply rubber rings to neck of scrotum between 1-4 weeks of age

No rubber rings after four months of age

RECOMMENDED BEST PRACTICE

Animals should be disbudded in preference to being dehorned

Use pain relief for any age when disbudding or dehorning

Use wound dressings to prevent blood loss when dehorning

Inspect animals during healing period after dehorning and treat infected wounds

If in doubt, seek veterinary advice on best methods

For more detailed information on minimum standards and best practice guidelines please refer to Animal Welfare (Painful Husbandry Procedures) Code of Welfare available from MPI Tel: 0800 008 333 or www.mpi.govt.nz/animals/animal-welfare/codes/all-animal-welfare-codes/code-of-welfare-painful-husbandry-procedures